Introduction

The purpose of the Integration-Test sub-project is to be the holder for all the system test code and system test tools (test tools that are specific to ODL but not specific to a particular ODL project and do not need to concern themselves with changing internal APIs of an ODL project; such test tools shall be designed to depend only on one project and should live in the project on which they depend) as well as the coordinator and driver for OpenDaylight test efforts.
